ALL NEW OPENING EVENT Merchant Wild Cow Milking

Have you ever seen two men running around a dirt arena trying to milk a wild cow? Well, here's your chance!

Merchant Wild Cow Milking is a timed competition that begins when a cow is turned loose into the arena. Out of a two-man team, one ropes the cow while the other tries to mug it. Then the roper jumps off his horse and tries to milk the cow until they get a small amount in a bottle.

Once the cow has been milked, the team member runs with the bottle to a designated area to stop the clock. For the time to count, there must be enough milk in the bottle to produce at least one drop when it's turned upside down.

You'll laugh, cheer and have an all-around good time watching these non-pro locals compete!
