2020 New Mexico State Fair Cancelled Due to Pandemic

ALBUQUERQUE, NM - Officials announced the cancellation of the 2020 New Mexico State Fair due to ongoing concerns over the COVID-19 pandemic today. The State Fair, slated to run September 10 – 20, welcomes half a million people from around the state and the country. The decision to cancel this year’s event comes in accordance with guidelines set forth by the New Mexico Department of Health to protect the health and welfare of New Mexicans across the state. This is the first time the fair has been cancelled since its inception in 1938.

In his full statement below, General Manager Dan Mourning says, “Like so many others in the fair industry this crisis has made it difficult for us to continue with our normal operations. While we are heartbroken that there will be no New Mexico State Fair in 2020, we remain committed to putting the safety and well-being of our staff, vendors, and our community above all else.”

Planning for the New Mexico State Fair requires year-round efforts to coordinate all of its moving parts. During the global pandemic, planning has become untenable.

While the State Fair is just one of many events affected by the pandemic in 2020, fair staff will continue to look forward and plan for 2021. “We are grateful for your understanding and support, and especially grateful to 500,000 people who attend the fair every year,” says Mourning. “Now is the time for us to heal our community and continue to move forward.”

General Manager Dan Mourning’s full statement:

On behalf of myself, the staff, and the New Mexico State Fair Commission we hope you are staying safe and healthy.

It is with a heavy heart that I am announcing the cancellation of the 2020 New Mexico State Fair, that was to be held at Expo New Mexico September 10 – 20.

Like so many others in the fair industry this crisis has made it difficult for us to continue with our normal operations. While we are heartbroken that there will be no New Mexico State Fair in 2020, we remain committed to putting the safety and well-being of our staff, vendors, and our community above all else.

The State Fair is a dynamic event, built on a vast network of vendors, competitors, sponsors, and hundreds of event staffers who bring their whole-hearted commitment to making our fair one of the best in the nation. The decision to cancel this year's fair has come after weeks and months of deliberations, fact finding, and consultation with state health officials. We have been unable to find a path to follow that would result in a state fair that we all recognize.

It is hard to say what the world will look like in September, but decisions must be made based on what we know today. And today, local and state public health officials are recommending that we keep our distance and avoid large groups for the foreseeable future.

As we go through the coming months, navigating our new normal please know we're grateful for your understanding and support of the staff that makes the State Fair possible. We're especially grateful to the 500,000 people who attend the fair every year. Now is the time for us to help our community heal and continue to move forward. In the meantime, this extraordinary team of State Fair experts is working hard to bring the fair back bigger, better, and stronger in 2021. We miss you and we cannot wait to see you next year at the 2021 New Mexico State Fair.
