TxDOT outlines new design plan proposal for Hwy. 242 improvements

Texas Department of Transportation officials unveiled a new design plan for Hwy. 242 from FM 1488 to 145 at a public meeting on March 9, including the potential for wider turn lanes at intersections, curbed medians and 10.74 acres of land for detention ponds.

The hearing, which was held at College Park High School in The Woodlands, explained the scope of the project as well as offered in-person and virtual public comment options.

The revised proposal no longer requires additional right-of-way for lane expansion. Instead, it relies on the existing right-of-way along Hwy. 242 to make room for slight widening and restriping of intersections.

What's next?
 TxDOT would need to purchase 10.74 acres of new right-of-way adjacent to Hwy. 242 for the proposed project, according to meeting officials. The land would be used for three detention ponds, and no commercial or residential properties would be displaced as a result of the pond construction, according to meeting materials.

REMARKS REQUESTED: The public comment period for this public hearing ends on March 23, at which point TxDOT will finalize the project and move forward.

165 acres purchased for Harris County Fair and Rodeo

A 165-acre tract of land that will be used for the Harris County Fair and Rodeo has been purchased by the Stockton Foundation Inc., announced Austin Young—which represented the foundation in the sale—in a March 10 news release.

"We are thrilled to acquire this site to be utilized by our nonprofit group that is focused on engaging youth, agricultural education and development, entertainment, and events in a family-friendly environment," said Fred Stockton, who is with the Stockton Foundation and serves as chairman of the Harris County Fair and Rodeo Association, via news release.

☑ The fair and rodeo held on the land will likely take place in late 2024, Stockton said, with several historical buildings set to be relocated to the parcel.

The present: The Harris County Fair and Rodeo currently takes place in October at the East Montgomery Fair Grounds at Sallis Park in New Germany, according to the news release.

Jorge Raptis

Master Educator

Jorge Raptis has a heart that beats for agave and fine spirits. For more than two decades, Jorge has represented some of the best brand names in the spirits industry. 17 of those years with the Diego portfolio, serving as the Portfolio Development Manager in SCOTIS, Senior Tequila Ambassador for Don Julio, Reserve National Educator for Latin Spirits and now Master Educator on the Diego Hospitality Partnership. He is the only US Diego Reserve team member named "Educator of the Year" in 2018 and 2019. Known for his depth of knowledge, intellectual passion, and genuine warmth, Jorge is a consummate professional, mentor, and relationship builder.

He relishes the opportunity to engage, influence, and educate people around the world with his fluency in three languages. "My unique blend of Greek and Mexican cordial hospitality allows me to bring people - and brands - together." Jorge enjoys helping his team and trade members develop their passion for Diego's brands and is inspired by strangers who become friends and friends who become family through the great food and drink experiences he helps to create.

Jorge studied business at universities in Boston, Mexico City, El Paso, and Houston. In addition, he holds an impressive array of industry certifications, like the most recent WSET Level 3 certification received with merit. When he isn't hosting exquisite cocktail dinner pairings and educational events, you'll find him cooking and enjoying a good meal in his home in Houston, TX, with his wife, daughter, and their Goldenoodle Rolly.
