Wine Walk: A report on the harvest, Platinum Wine Vault on tap and new innovations in the Hill Country

Ron Saikowski / Wine Walk

Aug. 4, 2021

This has been an unusual year for Texas vineyards and wineries. Wineries are opening up to the public even with the Delta surge of the pandemic. Vineyards in Texas have suffered through massive freezes, days of rains and now finally a normal summer of sun. Grapes are trickling into the wineries with outstanding quality but low yields. A hybrid grape called Norton arrived earlier last week at Haak Winery in Galveston County.

Several varieties of classic grape varietals were harvested last weekend at Flat Creek Estate Winery and Vineyards near Marble Falls. The grapes will start coming to the wineries faster as the weeks pass. As a result, many wineries will be celebrating the Harvest with wonderful events. Wineries like Messina Hof in Bryan, Windy Winery and Please Hill Winery in Brenham, and other wineries will be hosting special events this weekend and the next weekend. Look up these wineries and get your reservations made before going to these celebrations. These wineries will be enjoying your visits BUT reservations are a MUST since you might not get in without a reservation. Celebrate a high end quality grape harvest with Texas wineries. More on the grape harvest in coming weeks.

The premium wine event of the year is coming to The Woodlands area soon. Wine & Food Week in The Woodlands has spread its normal week of wine events with the best coming on Aug. 20 at Bayway Cadillac of The Woodlands. The Platinum Wine Vault is normally held right before the Grand Tasting on Saturday night during Wine & Food Week. This exclusive wine event features top wines in a personal, luxurious atmosphere. Limited tickets are available for this world class wine event and should be sold out within the week. Go online at <https://www.wineandfoodweek.com/> to purchase your tickets.

Ron Saikowski may be reached with wine news at rsaikowski@comcast.net.

The Juice for Houston

Hi Constance.

IT'S HOT OUT THERE!

Of course I love going to a local place cocktails, but when trying at home, Ranch Water is the drink to mix up.

It's known as a dressed down margarita, and since it's only 3 in pretty foolproof.

Just get the tequila, lime juice and Topo Chico. You can try it with water, but Ranch Water aficionados will tell you to ONLY use the of all those extra bubbles in every sip).

As Southern Living puts it, "you simply combine the trio, and you most crisp, cool, thirst-quenching porch cocktail ever".

Want to try one? Here's the Ranch Water Recipe.
