Sixteen earn berths in the Semifinals of Fort Worth's Pro Rodeo Tournament

FORT WORTH, Texas Jan. 26, 2022 — The third set of competitors finished their second round of competition in the Fort Worth Stock Show & Rodeo's (FWSSR) Pro Rodeo Tournament with two entrants in each of the eight disciplines advancing to the semifinals on February 3-4.

Tanner Aus of Granite Falls, Minnesota, earned his second consecutive round win when he rode Dakota Rodeo's horse Last Dance for 87 points. The six-time National Finals Rodeo (NFR) bareback rider also scored 87 to win the first round on Tuesday and will move on to the semifinals. Joining him in the semis is his traveling partner and another NFR veteran, Ty Breuer of Mandan, North Dakota.

The winning breakaway roper again took home more than $100 per 1/10 of a second. The reigning world champion, Sawyer Gilbert of Buffalo, South Dakota, stopped the clock in 1.7 seconds – the fastest time of the rodeo thus far – and won $1,760. She and Tuesday's winner, Texan Madison Outhier, move on to the semifinals.

Two-time world champion barrel racer Brittany Pozzi Tonozzi just won the championship at the National Western Stock Show & Rodeo in Denver. She finished out of the money on Tuesday in Fort Worth, but she and her mare Babe on the Chase (Birdie) ran the cloverleaf pattern in 16.58 seconds to win the second round. She has competed at the Fort Worth rodeo for 18 years and won the championship here once. She says she'd love to win here again, but her path to the tournament win has an extra step. She finished third in money won in her set and will have to win first or second the wild card round on February 2 to get to the semifinals.

Several athletes continued their winning streaks including reigning world champion steer wrestler Tyler Waguespack of Gonzales, Louisiana, who won his event for the second consecutive night and Canadian saddle bronc rider Kole Ashbacher rode Dakota Rodeo's mare Cover Girl for 87 points to win the second round after finishing second on Tuesday.

Kincade Henry, a 20-year-old from Mount Pleasant, stopped the clock in the second-fastest time of the rodeo – 7.8 seconds to win the tie-down roping and advance to the semifinals. Only two bull riders made the eight-second ride on Tuesday. California's Aaron Williams and New Mexico's Scottie Knapp swapped the finish with Knapp's 88-point ride on Andrews Rodeo Company's bull Rapid Fire in the lead. They both advance to the semifinals having each won $4,400 in the qualifying rounds.

Fifty-six of the top rodeo athletes in North America compete in each of eight events for more than $1.1 million dollars prize money in Fort Worth. Seven groups of eight athletes per event compete in consecutive rodeo performances in the tournament. The top two money winners from each group qualify for one of the semifinal rounds. The third-highest money winner in each set qualifies for the wild card round. The other four competitors go into a non-qualifiers pool and the highest remaining money winner in each event also gets to move to the wild card round. The top two money winners of that second-chance wild card competition also move on to the semifinals.

Then, the top four from each semifinal advance to the finals on Saturday, February 5 when the champions will be crowned.

A new set of contestants, eight per event, compete Thursday night at 7:30 p.m. and Friday afternoon at 2 p.m. in Dickies Arena for their shot at the semifinals.
