ANIMAL HEALTH REQUIREMENTS

The fair will have an official veterinarian on call. The fair office will call the veterinarian in case of emergencies or in special situations. Service call charges are the responsibility of the exhibitor. All sheep and goats, except castrated male goats, must have official USDA National Scrapie Eradication assigned flock identification.

Individual health certificates for Washington animals are not required for entry into the fair. The fair veterinarian may issue a blanket health certificate covering all in-state entries to the fair.

No animal from a quarantined area or premises may be permitted to enter the fair or show.

All out-of-state animal entries must comply with State of Washington import requirements. No exceptions unless exempted by rule. Please call the fair office for more information on out-of-state animal entries.

Fair veterinarians will inspect all classes of livestock and poultry (including horses, pet animals, rabbits, fur-bearing animals, pigeons, ducks, geese, and turkeys) before they are exhibited to determine that the livestock and poultry show no clinical indications of contagious, infectious diseases and or ectoparasites.

Fair veterinarians will reject any animal with infectious or contagious diseases or ectoparasites. Exhibitors should be aware that ringworm, warts, pinkeye, strangles, contagious ecthyma, scabies, lice, mites, ticks, and fleas fall into these categories.

Animals exhibiting disease symptoms during the course of the fair will be rejected by the fair veterinarian and removed from the exhibit area to a quarantined area at the fairgrounds. The Fair Veterinarian will then make the determination whether or not to send the animal home.

It is strongly recommended, but not required, that cattle be vaccinated in the current show year against respiratory diseases.

The fair veterinarian's professional decision as to the health status of an animal is final and will be upheld by the fair board.
