Indiana State Fair draws 860,131 Record attendance set on second Tuesday

August 19, 2018 INDIANAPOLIS, IN – The 2018 Indiana State Fair, themed STEP RIGHT UP! to the Greatest 17 Days of Summer, drew 860,131 fairgoers over its 17-day run, August 3-19. The fair attracted a record number of fairgoers on its second $2 Tuesday promotional day by bringing in more than 91,000 guests through its gates, making it the highest attended weekday in fair history. Perfect weather in the middle of the fair lead to the second highest attended five-day stretch in fair history.

“The STEP RIGHT UP to the Greatest 17 Days of Summer theme provided a wonderful opportunity to highlight Indiana’s unique circus history and promote it to hundreds of thousands of Hoosiers,” says Cindy Hoyer, executive director of the Indiana State Fair Commission. “Despite several hot and rainy days, we once again delivered an incredible fair experience that delighted our guests.”

The addition of a free, custom-programmed Big Top Circus with world-renowned performers added tremendous value for fairgoers. The single ring circus, which seated 1,600 people, was offered three times a day and drew 80,000 fairgoers over the course of the fair.

The 2019 Indiana State Fair will be held August 2-18.
