

February 23 & 24, 2022

Pollinator Summit

Supporting Native Pollinators in the Palouse Region

OPENING NIGHT MOVIE: Wednesday, February 23 • 7pm

Showing the Disney film: Wings of Life narrated by Meryl Streep. Doors open at 6:30pm. Pollinator Project Roundtable to follow the film. Sliding scale $0-$10

Kenworthy Performing Art Center, 508 S. Main Street, Moscow, ID

• Eventbrite Registration: <https://pollinatorevening.eventbrite.com>

POLLINATOR DAYTIME SUMMIT: Thursday, February 24

• 11am-7pm Participate in-person or via Zoom online! In-person at the Latah County Fairgrounds Exhibit Hall. Sliding scale $0-$10

Table Exhibits and Networking: 3-4pm and 7-8pm

• Eventbrite Registration: <https://palousepollinatorsummit.eventbrite.com>

What can we do to improve habitat for local native pollinators?

Multiple speakers

will present on a range of topics regarding pollinators, their habitat, the role of biodiversity and strategies for creating new pollinator habitat here on the Palouse.

Speakers include:

Michael Parella, UI Dean of the College of Agricultural and Life Sciences

Suvia Judd, President of Rural Roots and small acreage farmer

Eva Strand, UI Associate Professor of Rangeland Ecology and Management

Timothy Hatten, Entomologist, and expert on Palouse insects

David Schott, City of Moscow Parks and Recreation, Parks & Facilities Manager

Sarah Hill, Phoenix Conservancy, Palouse Prairie Project Manager

David James, WSU Associate Professor, Irrigated Agriculture Research and Extension

Subodh Adhikari, UI postdoctoral fellow in Entomology, Plant Pathology, and Nematology

Luc Leblanc, UI Curator and Manager of William F. Barr Entomological Museum

Nicole Xiao, MHS student, Climate Justice League Co-President

Susan Fluegel, Farmer and Nutritional Biochemist

Pamela Brunsfeld, botanist, retired from UI Stillinger Herbarium

YOUTH SUMMIT: Thursday, February 24 • 3-5pm

In the Classroom at Latah County Fairgrounds, In-person after school activities for Kindergarten thru Middle School. Free! High school students welcome to volunteer.

• Eventbrite Registration: <https://pollinatoryouthsummit.eventbrite.com>

For more information: latah@uidaho.edu, 208-883-2267

