Presidential Documents
Executive Order 14008 of January 27, 2021
Tackling the Climate Crisis at Home and Abroad

The United States and the world face a profound climate crisis. We have a narrow moment to pursue action at home and abroad in order to avoid the most catastrophic impacts of that crisis and to seize the opportunity that tackling climate change presents. Domestic action must go hand in hand with United States international leadership, aimed at significantly enhancing global action. Together, we must listen to science and meet the moment.

By the authority vested in me as President by the Constitution and the laws of the United States of America, it is hereby ordered as follows:

PART I—PUTTING THE CLIMATE CRISIS AT THE CENTER OF UNITED STATES FOREIGN POLICY AND NATIONAL SECURITY

Section 101. Policy. United States international engagement to address climate change—which has become a climate crisis—is more necessary and urgent than ever. The scientific community has made clear that the scale and speed of necessary action is greater than previously believed. There is little time left to avoid setting the world on a dangerous, potentially catastrophic, climate trajectory. Responding to the climate crisis will require both significant short-term global reductions in greenhouse gas emissions and not-zero global emissions by mid-century or before.

It is the policy of my Administration that climate considerations shall be an essential element of United States foreign policy and national security. The United States will work with other countries and partners, both bilaterally and multilaterally, to put the world on a sustainable path. The United States will also move quickly to build resilience to the impacts of climate change, against the impacts of climate change.

2. Purpose. This order already taken to address climate change, and States instrumentality—and but objectives (a safe and climate-resilient world to promote a climate challenge. I am making an early Lead making a positive Conference of the States will re-into, beginning with numbers of that United States will an energy transition with the ob- financing, nature angos.

What is 30 x 30?

The 30 x 30 program is a plan advanced by radical environmental activists to permanently protect 30% of America's land and oceans by 2030. The program was adopted by the Biden Administration through Executive Order 14008, "Tackling the Climate Crisis at Home and Abroad" (86 Fed. Reg. 7,619), signed January 27, 2021.

Proponents argue climate impacts are human-caused, and permanently preserving 30 percent of America's land and oceans is necessary to reverse climate change. This action must be taken immediately, they claim, to avoid impacts on the ecosystem and wildlife. However, the science and data do not justify these extreme policy measures.

30 x 30 is an unconstitutional policy shift, moving us from a nation founded on private property principles to one controlled by the administrative state.

Consideration of Lea County Resolution No. 21-JUL-150R Approving Award of Bid No. 07 2020 – 2021 Asphalt Emulsions Indefinite Quantity to Multiple Vendors for the Lea County Road Department

Asphalt emulsions are an oil product with an emulsifier, water, asphalt, and polymers that are used to install chip seal without the use of hot oil.

Lea County advertised and received 3 qualified bidders for the products requested.

Sometimes a single supplier is not able to supply the different types of oils, asphalts and emulsions to meet the needs of Lea County. For this reason, Lea County issued this RFP with the ability to award single items to the low bidder for that item.

Staff recommends utilizing the method of award in the bid and award each item listed to the low bidder (vendor).

These vendors include: Holly Frontier and Quality Emulsions

Purchase is currently budgeted in FY 21/22 in 402-10-2051

Discussion of Permit to Utilize County Land and Right of Way by Dawson Geophysical

VIBRATION MONITORING SERVICE L.L.C.

Introduction

Vibration Monitoring Service L.L.C. was contracted to conduct Peak Particle Velocity testing on the The Channel 3D seismic survey by Dawson Geophysical / Greyhound Resources LLC.. Mr. Art Venegas was assigned to the testing process on February 24, 2021. After demobilizing from the project, data was downloaded, processed, and the following report was generated.

Test Site

3X Commander AHV-IV's 364's were engaged in the testing process. The parameter set tested was an 2 - 104 Hz db/oct sweep 18 seconds in length, with custom start and end taper. Sweep testing utilized two drive levels: 70% and 35% . The seismographs were set at 20', 40', 60', 80', 100', 120', 200' and 300' in an array perpendicular to the vibes. A single seismograph was placed at each distance interval, and a group of manual sweeps were recorded to ensure the uniformity of the vibroseis equipment. The recorded PPV values of the specific sweep parameters can be reviewed using the attached sweeps.

Summary

When the vibe initiates the sweep the primary signal penetrates the sub surface layers. The individual vibrators generate these waves. As the waves propagate from the individual vibrators they combine to produce an array of sound waves that penetrate the earth's surface. These primary energy waves are projected downward into the earth. The type of energy the vibrators generate dissipates rapidly on the surface. The automatic trigger level on the seismographs was set to 0.020 in/sec for this test. This is equal to the normal level of human perception of ground vibrations.

As seismic waves travels through an area, they generate particle motions that we call vibrations. The particle motion that we measure on the surface is similar to that of a cork floating on a body of water when a wave passes underneath. It is the speed of this particle motion that we measure with a seismograph.

U.S. Bureau of Mines RI-8507 (Report of Investigation) published in 1980 stated that the speed of ground vibration (particle velocity), which is measured by a seismograph, is considered to be the best measure of damage potential. The safe vibration criterion for structures was specified in the U.S. Bureau of Mines Bulletin 656, which states:

"The safe vibration criterion is based on the measurement of individual components and if the particle velocity exceeds 2.0 inches per second, damage is likely to occur."

Therefore, if damage is likely to occur above 2.0 in/sec, then below 2.0 in/sec is safe, so 2.0 in/sec became known in blasting as the safe limit for modern one or two story residential structures. In the same bulletin, the US Bureau of Mines reported that it would normally take a particle velocity of 4.0 in/sec to cause "threshold damage", i.e., opening of old cracks and creation of new cracks. This is mentioned because the same levels apply to water wells.

At the field test that was conducted those present could feel the vibrations from the Commander AHV-IV 364's. The normal range of human perception is about .02 to .03 inches per second. It is because of this perception and the homeowner's fear of damage potential that we normally recommend vibration levels at or below 0.350 in/sec for vibroseis operations in most areas. The recorded data has been processed and presented graphically to better illustrate how the Peak Particle Velocity attenuates as distance from the seismic source increases. All of the graphs included here represent Peak Particle Velocity versus Distance. The Peak Particle Velocity values which are graphed represent the highest value recorded out of the three axis', radial, vertical, or transverse. Each machine has its own independent Peak Particle Velocity value for each source point recorded. Vibration Monitoring Service utilizes the PPV values for analysis and graphical display, so that we provide you, our client with the best possible data for damage mitigation planning.

This test is site specific and relates to the soil conditions and the near surface geology. For a 2D or 3D seismic project that covers a large area it is recommended that PPV levels be monitored throughout the entire project to provide for the possibility of changing near surface geology to make for a more consistent method of calculating and maintaining minimum offset criteria.
