

RANCH SORTING

Clinic – January 2021

with Kyle Churchill

“Sit down, feel your horse, and ride every stride”

In his 30 young years, Kyle has traveled all over the country riding with amazing people. Now settled in Arlington, Washington he owns and operates Churchill Performance Horses along with his wife, Whitney.

Kyle specializes in colt starting and training the all-around horse. Kyle has competed in cutting, reined cow, reining, ranch sorting/versatility and has had huge success in several Extreme Mustang Makeover events. He placed 5th with his mustang in 2009 and won the Extreme Mustang Makeover in 2017.

Kyle strives to build a confident horse from the first touch. He believes that by getting out of the horse's way and letting them grow up, they come along more quickly and with a better feel. Teaching feel and timing, Kyle works to guide the horse while ultimately allowing the horse to make its own decisions. Done right, he believes that a stronger, more willing partner is created.

A great deal of Kyle's program is devoted to coaching riders as well as training horses. His goal is to see his clients enjoying their equine partners while striving for the best horse they can make together. All in all, he believes that through great horsemanship you can accomplish anything on your horse.
