

Exhibitors,

The North Idaho State Fair Staff and Fair Board are offering a unique opportunity to have a Q&A session with the official Fair Veterinarian and hear what to expect through the process of entering, showing, and selling your animals. This Q&A session will be open to parents/guardians, leaders, superintendents and program representatives during the YQCA training June 1 at 5:30 PM, with a short exhibitor Q&A to follow.

A mandatory educational step to being eligible to show a market or breeding animal at the 2023 North Idaho State Fair is to complete the YQCA training. YQCA (Youth for the Quality Care of Animals) offers this training online for $12 per exhibitor at <https://yqcaprogram.org/>. We are offering an in-person training for $3 per exhibitor, June 1 at 5:30 PM. This would be a 60 minute instructor-led training; YQCA provides the material and instructors are required to teach that material provided.

Each exhibitor will need to register/create an account at:

<https://yqcaprogram.org/>

1. After you have created an account, you will be taken to the course options.
2. Choose the course that corresponds with the exhibitor's age
3. Add to cart
4. Fill in the drop down boxes
5. Select Training - "North Idaho State Fair"
6. Add
7. Add additional exhibitors and/or check out.

Once exhibitors complete the training (online or in-person), they should be able to access their certificates through their YQCA accounts. Show representatives will have a checklist at final weigh-in Monday, August 21 with exhibitors who have completed the certification, but please keep record of your certification handy. This is a unique quality assurance training, so even if you've had qualified training through an individual program, it may not meet this requirement. If you have questions about this event or if you are already certified through YQCA please contact the fair office at (208) 765-4969.
