BET'CHA DIDN'T KNOW

Downtown Palestine developed in three distinct ways. In 1846, Palestine was formed and established on the hill where the Anderson County Courthouse stands. Just west of the courthouse along Wells Creek an industrial zone developed known today as Old Town. When the railroad came to town in 1872 a new commercial district sprung up along the tracks. To connect the new part of town to the Courthouse Square, Avenue A was constructed.

Today, the Courthouse Square is a gathering space for professionals of which the Anderson County Courthouse is it's main feature. Old Town has evolved into a central of nightlife and foodie destinations. Downtown while retaining it's historic characteristics, has grown past it's original boundary and now serves as a hub for an eclectic array of retail, restaurants, professional offices, as well as City Hall.
