Why should I invest in a youth project?

Pasco County Fair's steer auction is the end result of the 4H and FFA member's year-long project. It is an educational experience as well as a business venture. The members get the opportunity to have a "hands on" experience while learning all about the beef industry. They discover what agriculture production is about and the responsibility necessary to survive in it. The members have selected, fed, and groomed their steers for competition and marketing. Having community support makes it possible for the youth to receive recognition and the motivation to earn and save for the future. Many members go through this opportunity and come out as great leaders, educators, and responsible citizens.

How do I buy an animal?

Register to be a buyer with the Beef Committee or through the Fair office. On the day of the sale, you can register at the buyers table. Once you have a number you can bid on the animal you wish to purchase. You will then get a sales agreement and will pay at the barn office before you leave.

Can I split the purchase with another business or with friends?

Absolutely!!!

Each person/business just needs to register as a buyer but only one person needs to bid. Once the bid is final, you will all be recognized as buyers and will receive a sales agreement.

What do I do with the animal I purchased?

There are three options available to you:

1. You can have the animal processed for your personal consumption, you will select a processor from those available at the sale. They will pick up the animal from the auction and will contact you when your meat products are ready to be picked up.

2. If you do not wish to keep the processed meat you can choose the "buy back" option. This means that you will pay the difference between the auction price (your winning bid) and the current market price. (Current market prices will be announced prior to the auction and indicated in the program.) Arrangements have already been made to have these animals transported to the feed lot.

3. You may wish to donate the meat products to a charitable organization. If you choose this option, you will select a processor from those available at the sale. They will pick up the animal from the auction and will contact you when your meat products are ready to be picked up. (You will be responsible for the processing fee and delivery of the meat product to the organization.)
