

Fair Exchange

January
2018

Message from Bill Dutcher, RMAF President

“Happy New Fair Year” to everyone in the Rocky Mountain Association of Fairs family. The calendar turns and the next fairs are upon us.

If the spark of the 2017 convention in Colorado Springs is any indication, 2018 will be super. The Hotel Elegante’ played host to a wonderful convention. The RMAF board members and Executive Secretary Nancy Pitz should take a bow. The service members should all take a bow. The members of RMAF take your bow. Following this; a very special thanks to the Colorado Association of Fairs for their friendly and colorful participation.

I heard every day over and over comments on the great education level of the convention. This bodes well as everyone in the service member and fair segments want to keep this industry growing.

Two weeks after RMAF convention, IAFE held the final convention in Las Vegas after being there for 52 years. Plans are already underway for the 2018 IAFE in San Antonio, Texas where it will be home for the next four years.

At IAFE once again, comments were heard over and over about the great education opportunities offered; making the fair industry succeed as never before.

As we all know, 2017 had some very serious challenges both from the natural disaster aspect and the horrific security related events.

As our industry prevails and shines, our service members and fair members will continue to provide families with a bright and hopeful future!

Soon we will have our RMAF winter board meeting and work on the plans for another showcase convention in Billings, Montana this coming November.

So, best wishes to all as you plan the 2018 season to be the best ever!

Here is a toast to a fun, friendly, safe and entertaining 2018 fair year!

Bill

“As you know (or may not know), Bogie was diagnosed with a chronic and irreversible lung disease during this past year. I am excited to report that over the holiday break, Bogie was accepted onto the lung transplant list at the University of Nebraska Med Center and received a lung transplant last week! We are trying to raise money to cover Bogie’s medical costs that will not be covered by insurance. We are using a 501c3 non-profit organization called “Help Hope Live” to raise money for Bogie and his family. All donations are tax deductible and will go to Bogie to cover expenses related to his transplant and medical care.

Thank you in advance for considering a donation to help Bogie.”

About Steve

Bogie needs our help.

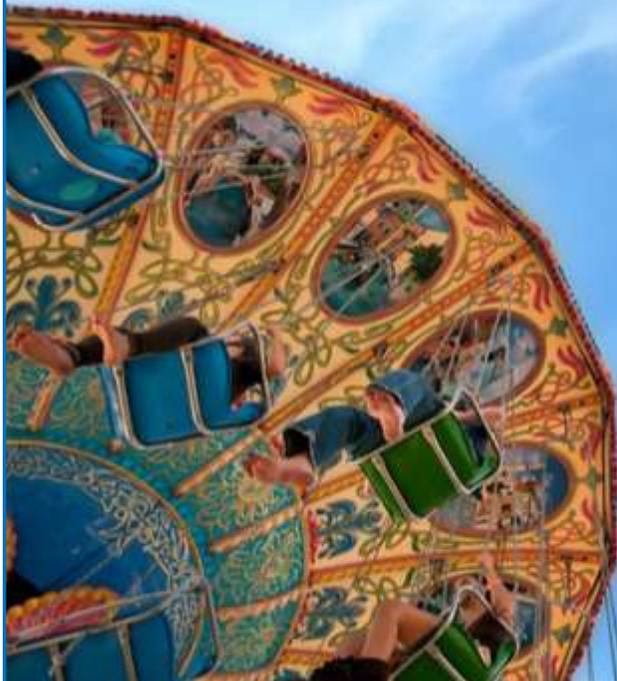

In 2015, he was diagnosed with idiopathic pulmonary fibrosis (IPF). Unfortunately, the disease progressed rapidly. A successful lung transplant was Bogie's only hope for survival.

After undergoing days of vigorous testing in December 2017, Bogie was approved as a candidate for a lung transplant. Bogie was officially put on the lung transplant list at the University of Nebraska Medical Center's Lied Transplant Center the morning of January 2nd and received a call that very evening that a donor lung was available!

Bogie has successfully undergone a single lung transplant (Bogie's doctor recommended that a single lung transplant was the best route at this time, rather than a double transplant). He is... >> more

The 92nd annual gathering of the Rocky Mountain Association of Fairs (RMAF) was held in the scenic city of Colorado Springs, Colorado in conjunction with the Colorado Association of Fairs and Shows (CAFS). The convention was held for the first time at the Hotel Elegante Conference & Event Center from November 8-11, 2017 and featured the theme “Set Your Wheels in Motion: Activate. Elevate. Innovate.”. This year’s event had a number of changes including a new track workshop program with direct educational sessions for managers, marketing and sponsorship professionals, board members and volunteers, and operations and maintenance staff. Other changes included moving the traditional Veteran’s Day tribute to the opening session and the elimination of the Thursday morning group breakfast. The convention had a total of 440 registered participants (plus 90 queen guests from CAFS), 87 fairs and 99 service members represented.

The opening day of the convention included a meeting of the board of directors, two educational sessions presented by the International Association of Fairs (IAFE) and the President’s Reception honoring RMAF President, Dane Dugan and CAFS President, Wayne Clark. The evening concluded with showcasing in the grand ballroom and the first visitation for service members.

The next two days of the convention featured a variety of workshops and speakers including an exceptional keynote by internet sensation Chad Prather. Chad delivered a humorous and gripping presentation about his life experiences and how we can all maximize each day to the fullest.

Other presentations included topics such as: The Total Leader Concept, Guest Relations & Grounds Maintenance; What Bands Need When They Arrive; Digital Marketing Platforms With Adtaxi; Volunteer Engagement, Insurance & Risk Management for Fairs; Craft an Effective Marketing Plan With Left Hand Brewing; Handling Critical & Non-Critical Situations; Laws & Issues of Service Dogs; Youth Livestock Show Ethics, Drug Testing & Ramifications; Do’s & Don’t s of Boards; Selling Sponsorships; Arena Turnover; Amusement Rides & Devices; When Background Checks Matter; Keeping Your Mission on Track; E Coli Out-break at Fairs; Going Cashless; Agri-tourism at the Fair; Multi-generational Workforce - Operations & Fair Boards; Handling Animal Welfare; Maximizing Your Revenue Through E-Commerce & Ticketing.

Other functions held throughout the convention included a reception and meeting of the Rocky Mountain Young Fair Professionals (RMYFP). The group gathered Thursday afternoon for a Cuban themed reception and then held a planning meeting the following day to establish goals for 2018. Meetings of each district were also held on Thursday resulting in the election of two new board members. They include Jamie Porter from MontanaFair (MT) who will complete out the at-large director term of Jamie Larson of the Richland County Fair (MT) who was elected as the new Northeast District director. The Southeast District selected Ron Jeffries of the Central States Fair (SD) to represent their region. A final meeting of the RMAF board of directors was held on Friday afternoon which included the approval of the 2018 budget and election of Michael Mezmer, service member director, who will start his progression through the chairs serving first as the 2nd Vice President of the organization.

Several awards honoring members of the RMAF were presented during the evening sessions. They include Rhonda Livingstone of the Bonner County Fair (ID), Fair Manager of the Year; Butch Woolard of the Northwest Montana Fair (MT), Fair Person of the Year; Wayne Clark of CEW Enterprises (CO), Service Member of the Year; Bill Ammen of the Blaine County Fair (MT), Heritage Award; Barney Cosner of the Fremont County Fair (WY), Hall of Fame Award.

The final day of the convention featured a lunchtime general session with showcasing, the CAFS general business meeting and a presentation by Jed Pugsley from the PRCA. Saturday night’s finale included a fashion show by the young women in the Colorado Royalty program and the presentation of the 3rd Annual RMAF See Ticket Summit Awards. The new Renner Award for Innovation was also announced in tribute to former RMAF President and past Hall of Fame recipient, Barbara Renner of Coeur d’Alene, Idaho. The winner was the Western Montana Fair for their “Free Fair Admission” program. The evening concluded with the passing of the gavel ceremony. Bill Dutcher of MontanaFair (MT) was announced the new RMAF President. He gave greetings and invited all attendees to the 2018 convention which will be held at the Radisson Hotel in Billings, Montana from November 7th through 10th.
