"From One Rose"

Written by Ronald Carr

Arranged by Bruce Broughton

Ronald Carr was driven to write From One Rose after the 100th Anniversary Celebration of the Portland Rose Festival in 2007. He realized there was no theme song or music representing the Rose Festival, and thought there should be.

Ronald was inspired by the power that a single rose can have to end wars, start relationships, and uplift people in general. He started with the Royal Rosarian motto, "For you a rose in Portland grows," and developed the song from there.

Verse 1

From the mountains to the rivers, come the joys that life delivers, and the quiet peace surrounds us when it snows.
With the forests and the creatures that our glorious region features, and with nature's perfect teachers our world grows.

Chorus 1

From one Rose, from one Rose, today for you a Rose in Portland grows.
From one Rose, from one Rose, a better world begins with just one Rose

Verse 2

There is nothing to prepare ya for the beauty of the area,
Of the winds and waters, waves and shores below.
Dazzling fountains, falls and forests, pristine air that helps restore us,
Fertile valleys lay before us as we go.

Verse 3

Tis the northwest and the region, God's own place to retreat in,
And the people come in legions just to know.
When I've seen what there's to see, all from sea to shining sea,
There's no place I'd rather be, and it shows

Chorus 2

From one Rose, from one Rose, to live, to love, to heal, to really know,
From one Rose, from one Rose, a better world begins with just one Rose.
