

For Immediate Release

Media Contact:
Jordanna Dunn
Digital Marketing Manager, Rareview
jordanna@rareview.com
(949) 979. 5503

Witness The Best of Agriculture and Artistic Talent At This Year's Sacramento County Fair

Experience a showcase of agricultural excellence and talent as the Sacramento County Fair gears up to host its highly anticipated Jr. Livestock Competitions, Jr. Horse Show, and Competitive Exhibits. With entries closing on April 19th, aspiring young farmers and ranchers, equestrians, and artisans of all ages are invited to participate in these prestigious events.

Jr. Livestock Competitions (Entries close April 19th)

A highlight of the Sacramento County Fair every year, the Livestock competition is a great chance for young farmers and ranchers from across the region to showcase their hard work and dedication to raising livestock. From sheep and goats to swine and cattle to dogs and rabbits, future agricultural leaders will have the chance to share their passion through competition.

Jr. Horse Show (Show will be held Saturday May 18th and Sunday May 19th)

Young riders will demonstrate their equestrian talent at this year's Junior Horse Show showing off their riding abilities and horsemanship in a variety of competitive classes. Participants range from beginners to seasoned competitors, with divisions designed to accommodate riders of all skill levels and ages.

Competitive Exhibits (Entries close April 19th)

From cake decorating and sewing exhibits to pallet art and photography, individuals of all ages have the opportunity to showcase their talents and handiwork in a variety of competitive categories. Whether you're an adult or a junior, this is your chance to let your creativity and craftsmanship shine for thousands of fairgoers and judges to admire.

For competition handbooks and all entry information, visit
<https://www.sacfair.com/p/contestscompetitions/competitions--contests>

###