SALINAS VALLEY FAIR 'KICK'S-OFF' FAIR SEASON IN SOUTH COUNTY

David and Steven Gill Honoured for Their Contributions

KING CITY – It was a packed house at the Orradre building on Saturday, April 27th as 600 supporters of the Salinas Valley Fair attended the annual dinner, dance and auction fundraiser.

Guests were treated to a surprise performance by dancers from the Monterey County Dance Theatre under the direction of Janette Harkness followed by a hearty steak dinner prepared by the King City Young Farmers - a local service club and longtime supporter of the Salinas Valley Fair and youth charities. All throughout the evening the Knights of Columbus, another charitable organization, helped keep the drinks flowing as they served up cocktails for the party.

A big part of the fundraising effort for the evening was the live and silent auctions. “We had an awesome list of silent and live auction items,” said Frank Lopez, Salinas Valley Fair board member and auction chairman, “our community and friends really went the extra mile to provide amazing items for this event.” With several dozen live auction items and 178 for the silent auction there was a wide variety to entice just about everyone. Trips, dinners, sporting event tickets, fresh produce, unique crafts, jewelry, services and so much more!

The kick-off live auction, which is part of the night’s entertainment, was expertly handled by Mark Wright of Hollister with Fair Board Directors, Frank Lopez, Cody Bassetti and Mike McLane. Ringmen helping to spot buyers were Sheriff Steve Bernal, King City Chief of Police Bob Masterson and retired Fair Manager, Paul Slocum. Total live auction proceeds for the event topped $102,000, with the fair’s 75th Anniversary Poster depicting the Farm to Fable theme topping the list at sales price of $12,000.

“The Fair Kick-Off not only signals the start of the fair season but raises capital necessary to support agricultural youth programming at the fair and deferred maintenance projects on the fairgrounds”, said Steven Handley, Fair Board President. Handley explained that the board approved recommendations from the Buildings and Grounds Committee for electrical service improvements, replacement of a submersible pump that broke in the winter and painting projects. He said that 4-H and FFA members will also notice upgrades to the fair’s paging system at the Topo and Rava Barns and the new goat scale which will partially be paid for by proceeds from the night’s fundraising efforts.

The event also serves as an opportunity to recognize persons who have contributed to the success of the annual fair. Salinas Valley Fair Junior Livestock Auction Director, Cody Bassetti, had the task of surprising David and Steven Gill with the Fair’s Junior Livestock Auction Cover honor. The Directors of the fair elected to dedicate the cover for the contributions they have made supporting the annual fair and the Salinas Valley Fair Heritage Foundation.
