Motorcycles, monster trucks and mayhem quad wars

SANTA MARIA— What’s more spectacular than a Moto X rider performing aerial maneuvers, like 360-degree backflips, while flying 30 feet in the air for over 80 feet? Audiences will find out Saturday, April 27 at the Santa Maria Fairpark.

Check out what some of the top Freestyle Moto X riders in the nation can do with nothing but sky beneath their wheels. Top Moto X riders like Fitz Army/Metal Mulisha Superstar, Jimmy Fitzpatrick, will fill the Budweiser Minetti Arena with thrilling performances.

Then catch Monster Truck madness as The Flying Spaniard, Tony Canedo, driving the 10,000-pound, 2,000-horsepower monster, “Playing for Keeps,” competes against Jeff Souza driving “The Enforcer.” Don’t miss 11-year-old Corbin Shockey in his mini monster truck “High Risk,” offering an incredible freestyle performance.

And you’ll want to be there for the Quad Wars! Watch some of the fastest racers in the country battle it out for a huge grand prize. Team Santa Maria takes on Team LA in a Quad Race around the arena on a course that will take them through sharp turns and jumps. Support Captain Tyler Holcomb and his Santa Maria team as they take on Todd the Quad God and his team from Los Angeles. Get ready to be LOUD and root Santa Maria on to victory!
