

Memories of Jean Jansen

I remember the ice castles from the 60's. Grew up in Minneapolis, but always came to Saint Paul for winter carnival activities. Seemed to be huge to me as a child, but were probably modest in size. Remember the larger ones at Phalen Lake and Harriet Island. Sure put Saint Paul on the map in a positive way at he time, Also remember the toboggan slide in front of the state capitol. Fun riding, but more fun just watching others come down and enjoying how families came together to enjoy this activity. Remember spending hours watching and enjoying these winter events. As I had my own family, we always attended the winter carnival parades. The kids loved putting on their snowsuits and boots and spending the day outside. I liked the Hilex cars.
