To give an add-on they must contact the Tehama District Fair Office.

I purchased a Market Animal, does that mean I will sell at the Junior Livestock Auction?

- Market Animal projects teach important lessons of animal husbandry, budgeting, and work ethic. It is important to remember that the ultimate goal of the project is to put a quality animal in the freezer of your buyer. To help ensure that only quality animals are being sold at the Junior Livestock Auction there are weight requirements in each species. However, even if your animal meets the weight requirement, it does not mean the animal is "finished" or ready for consumption. The judge will have the final say on what animals go to auction, they will deem each animal Market Ready (Group 1 or 2) or Not Market Ready (Group 3). Animals that are classified Not Market Ready will be sifted and unable to sell. Market Animal projects are large investments, it is expensive to purchase, feed, and market your animal. When signing up for your project please remember that not every exhibitor will have the opportunity to sell their animal at the Fair and not every exhibitor will break even.

What does the Fair require for exhibitors to sell an animal at the Junior Livestock Auction?

- If a livestock exhibitor would like to sell an animal at the Junior Livestock Auction the Tehama District Fair requires that the exhibitor be part of either a 4-H Club, FFA Chapter, Grange Group or be an Independent. Those four entities each have different rules and requirements that the exhibitor must follow to be eligible.
